Intro to Beatbox w Kaila Mullady, World Beatbox Champion

Feb 6 @ 10:00 am – 11:00 am

Have you been saying “Boots and Cats” faster and faster in the hopes that you’ll sound like a drum set? Study basics with a master and set yourself on the path to beatbox success. Tap into your own unique sounds and style while learning the core elements of beatbox.

Kaila Mullady is the current World Beatbox Champion, current American Vice Beatbox Champion, current Loop station champion, and current and 3-time Beatrhyme Champion. Beatrhyming is the art of performing a lead with lyrics, vocal percussion, and other backing accompaniment, all simultaneously, without the assistance of technology. Often incorporating vocal “trumpet” and improvisation to her unique sound, Kaila has performed across the East Coast at hip-hop events, schools and even the world famous Blue Note Jazz Club. She recently lent her talents to hip-hop group, Ja'Shayla for their a cappella video of Lorde's “Royals”.

Vocal Health w/ Lynda Antonetti, MS, CCC-SLP

Feb 6 @ 10:00 am – 11:00 am

Your vocal health means everything! Trained singer turned Speech Pathologist, Lynda Antonetti shows you the path to a healthy voice. This class examines the voice as an instrument and the singer as an athlete. Lynda helps you to determine what type of “voice user” you truly are, and most importantly, points out the common pitfalls that hurt singers and how to avoid them.

Lynda A. Antonetti MS, CCC-SLP, holds a Bachelor of Science in Speech Pathology from SUNY Geneseo and her masters from Nova Southeastern University. She's been a certified Speech Language Pathologist since 1998. But she's always been a singer, with formal vocal lessons beginning at the age of 9. After continuing her studies all the way through her first two years of college, she expanded her path to reflect the need for Speech Pathologists in the world of vocal entertainment. Her clientele has included both adults and children with a variety of disabilities, however her passion is to educate those who utilize their voices for their career.

What Makes a Great Recording (or Corey Slutsky is Not Your Mom)

Feb 6 @ 10:00 am – 11:00 am

Your mom says your album's the greatest thing she's ever heard. Shocker. Time for a dose of reality! Bring your recordings to class and get critiqued by the experts. Corey Slutsky isn't your mom, but he is the Voices Only Founder and Executive Producer for the last decade, and a former RARB reviewer and CARA judge. He's heard a lot of a cappella. He'll listen intently to your recorded songs and point out right from wrong. It's a no-holds-barred critique.

Corey will also play some shining stars and dismal flops from his personal collection for your listening enjoyment.

Learn what to listen for, and how to make your recordings shine. Will there be debates? Sure! Natural vs processed! What counts as cheating? What's eye-rollingly unoriginal? Is the target audience the ACA-community or the general public? As a bonus, Corey reveals the tricks to getting selected for Voices Only Compilations.

Corey Slutsky is the founder and owner of Voices Only and Voices Only Productions; produced 16 (and counting) a cappella compilation albums over 11 years; CARA award-winning producer and recording engineer; RARB reviewer, Judge for CARAs, ICCA, Absolut A Cappella; Taught workshops and masterclasses at SoJam, Los Angeles A Cappella Festival, Kettering National A Cappella Festival, and Las Vegas A Cappella Summit; Performed all male voice parts and vocal percussion for USC SoCal VoCals, The Michigan G-Men, Michigan Kol HaKavod, and STREETNiX; Produced master's thesis on "the growth and explosion of a cappella music from 1990-2005."

The Business of Show Business w/ Kris Vicencio

Sometimes we're better at the "show" than the "business" but that's OK! Kris Vicencio is here to set us straight! Lesson 1. self-marketing and promotion for the budding a cappella group. If no one knows about your incredible talents, they can't throw bundles of money at you. Lesson 2. a brief "behind-the-scenes" look at what it takes administratively to take your group to its full potential.

Kris lives just outside of Washington, DC, but he is a native Long Island-er, a Mets fan for life, and his favorite bagel place is "Better on a Bagel" on Miller Place. He studied musical theater and was a founding member of the men's a cappella group at SUNY Oswego. He received his bachelor's degree in Public Relations from the University of Maryland, and has coordinated events for over a decade including collegiate and professional a cappella concerts, music festivals, weddings, military ceremonies, and non-profit fundraisers. He is currently the Volunteer Coordinator for SingStrong DC, a position he has held for several years.

Creative Vocal Lab-Intro to Vocal Improv w/ Evan Feist

Feb 7 @ 10:00 am – Mar 8 @ 11:00 am

First time improvisers and veterans alike, come explore as Evan guides you through several short form group improvisation and games. Take these tools back to your group to spice up your sets, your composing and your arranging through spontaneous creation. You can even open for your own group with an improv set!

Evan Feist has performed, arranged, directed, and coached a cappella music for more than a decade. As the founder of the Creative Vocal Lab, Evan has been working with singers of all ages to build their skills improvising original songs and spontaneously arranging pop songs in both small and large ensembles.

He's earned two Master's degrees from Columbia University, Teachers College, a MusB from the Purchase College Conservatory of Music and runs the audio production company, Stacks of Wax.

In 2015, the New York Musical Theatre Festival presented him with the "Outstanding Arrangements" award as well as "Outstanding Musical Direction" award for his work in A cappella:the musical.

Evan has helped create more than 15 middle and high school a cappella groups and continues to serve as a teaching artist at AMDA, SUNY Purchase, Rye Arts Center, and the Westhampton Beach Performing Arts Center. As a staff arranger and clinician at A Cappella Psych, Evan has been able to develop a unique style of arranging that incorporates honest emotional storytelling through the use of improvisation. Currently, Evan has a private studio of over 30 students, whose field of study ranges from songwriting to voice study, producing to directing. Evan has worked with NBC's "The Voice" and "America's Got Talent." Ever the student, he continues to study the craft with Rhiannon, WeBe3, UCB, Bob Stoloff, and Bobby McFerrin.

Live-Looping w Julia Easterlin

Feb 7 @ 10:00 am – 11:00 am

Looping technology allows a single performer to bring the power of a choir. But how do you stop it from being a gimmick and play loops like instruments? From such lofty concepts to the very basics of the technology, world renown live-looper Julia Easterlin will lead the class in an exploration that is both interactive and informative.

Now a Brooklynite, Julia hails from Georgia with performances that span the world: from Lollapalooza to TED conferences, from MIDEM to CMJ and SXSW. Her artistry has been awarded by the National Foundation for Advancement in the Arts, the New York Songwriters Circle and Berklee College of Music in Boston. Julia has performed her unique style of layered live singing from Cuba to the Himalayas and she'd delighted to return to SingStrong where she made her a cappella festival debut. One of our most requested repeat artists, her last performance received a standing ovation after each song.

Beatrhyming w/ Kaila Mullady

Feb 7 @ 11:00 am – 12:00 pm

Beatrhyming is the art of performing a lead with lyrics, vocal percussion, and other backing accompaniment, all simultaneously, without the assistance of technology. Kaila teaches an artful combination of living freely in the moment and using carefully planned psycho-acoustic techniques for filling up the sonic spectrum.

Kaila Mullady is the current and 3-time Beatrhyme Champion.

She is also the current World Beatbox Champion, and the current American Vice Beatbox Champion, and the current Loop station champion.

Kaila has performed across the East Coast at hip-hop events, schools and even the world famous Blue Note Jazz Club. She recently lent her talents to hip-hop group, Ja'Shayla for their a cappella video of Lorde's "Royals". Beatbox fans will recognize her from her appearance on WBGO radio, and from her impressive showing in both the World and American Beatboxing Championships.
